“ There are no words to express how grateful I am to have called you my friend. You were always there for me when I needed advice about everything from diet, lifting, men (lol), the crazy dates we both went on! You were the brother I never had and I am lucky to have had you in my life for the last five years. I remember staying at the gym for up to four hours just talking about everything, mostly the gym though. I remember all of the funny, sometimes inappropriate texts and pictures that you would always send during the week or the funny picture of finding "my" farmers market in Kentucky. I'll always remember how you always were able to make me laugh even when I was crying. How you helped me through a break up. You were an amazing person, friend, and in general human being. You were truly a bright light in this world and the world is a little darker without you. Thank you. Thank you.

“ I remember when the movie 'Generation Iron' was coming out to theatres and we were so worried about the amount of members who were going to be coming into the gym to try and become the next to bodybuilder. I still have that whole conversation we had about it. Even though we can not share our conversations together face to face, for every thought I have of us, I feel as that is our way now to communicate. Justin Wendt
